Presentations and Recognitions

Innovative Educator – Superintendent Clouet introduced Deanna Toohey, Reading Consultant at Elizabeth Shelton School, as this month’s Innovative Educator. Mrs. Toohey expressed her appreciation and said it is through the leadership and collaborative efforts of Principal Beverly Belden and every single teacher, staff member, parents, and students that amazing things can happen. She discussed the literacy project of reorganization of classroom libraries at ESS, which includes labeling books by category and creating baskets for those categories. Students are taught how to shop for just-right books and how to shop in a genre or category library, and results are children who become passionate, interested and excited readers. She said the generous PTO Scholastic dollars have allowed teachers to purchase books to fill the baskets. A video of some of the amazing literacy happenings at ESS was shown. Principal Beverly Belden commended Mrs. Toohey and said she is very fortunate to have her as a staff member.

Public Hearing

Walter Dunn, 836 S. Main Street, Beacon Falls, parent of SIS student, suggested that perhaps the board could save money by looking into refurbished ChromeBooks. He commented on lack of cultural diversity in the City of Shelton. He wants to see other holidays included in the school calendar, including Muslim, and that students who observe the holidays will not have their perfect attendance affected. He would like to be included in the Intergenerational Group meetings.

Greg Johnson, Ansonia Branch President of NAACP, spoke again about the need for more inclusiveness. He suggested the new board could change the paradigm, take charge and make things better for the future.

Mark Holden, 275 Soundview Avenue, congratulated the new board members. He discussed the FLL Robotics competition this Saturday at Shelton High School. Shelton again will be hosting the State Championship Tournament for FLL on December 7. He encouraged all to attend the terrific things that are going on in our schools.

Superintendent’s Report and Action Items

Budget – Dr. Clouet said we have been working with our entire staff and certainly with Rick Belden playing a strong leadership role, we have begun the process of getting ready for the next budget cycle that will start with board input. The budget workshops are typically held in January with opportunities prior to that for board input.

Dina Marks was asked to review some happenings at SIS. Fox61 Kids News accepted one of the newscasts on the Inventors Lab Class will be on the website and shown on TV November 22 at 7:20. Mrs. Marks said a video of the laser engraver and cutter purchased with funds from the PTO Car Raffle will be on the website to view. She said both FLL Robotics teams, PHS Predators and SIS Resisters, won awards and will be going to the State finals.
Superintendent Clouet stated an upcoming BOE member orientation is being planned and will be discussed in detail with Kathy Yolish. He said CES Executive Director Chip Dumais is willing, at no cost, to come here to talk about roles and responsibilities.

Anti-Bias – Dr. Clouet discussed the seriousness of the issue, and said we, as a district, make it part and central to our work. He noted the world is changing and there have been incidents across the country and around the world; Shelton is not unique. He said multiple meetings on anti-bias began last year and continue, as well as an Inter-Generational Diversity Group that has met here three times. We have had staff training. We have a group of students that are being trained, and we also continue to teach science, and math, etc. He stated board members are welcome to attend meetings. He said the idea that there is some kind of lack of caring in this school district is false. He stated we will not allow the children to be bullied or harassed and we take it seriously and respond quickly.

Regarding a comment mentioned earlier in Public Session, Dr. Clouet said the ChromeBooks we ordered are configured to allow the students to take tests, since all the testing is done on the Chromebooks. Older refurbished Chromebooks do not work for the high demand testing.

SBAC Scores (Smarter Balanced Assessment Consortium) – Kenneth Saranich, Victoria White, and Gavriella Ziu-Pires provided a handout and presented an overview and introduction to the state assessments that our students here in Shelton take. Mr. Saranich stated the Office of Teaching and Learning will do an in-depth analysis of the aggregated data by subgroups and grade level at the next scheduled Teaching and Learning Subcommittee meeting. All board members are invited to attend and are encouraged to submit any questions to Ken, Vicky or Gavi prior to the meeting.
